

11TH GRADE ENGLISH CONTROL WORK

QUARTER 1 - VARIANT 1

Determiners and Social Dynamics

1. Analyze the subtle semantic difference between using 'both', 'either', and 'neither' when describing complex interpersonal conflicts.
2. Correct the grammatical mistake and fully explain the rule: 'Every of the highly motivated students in the classroom have their own unique perspective.'
3. Make a complex sentence using the determiner 'none of' to critically evaluate the failure of a collaborative group project.
4. Discuss the specific psychological and emotional traits that define a 'true friend' in today's increasingly digital society.
5. How does the inherent superficiality of social media negatively affect the depth and longevity of modern teenage friendships?

Consumer Culture and London Shopping

6. Write a comparative paragraph detailing the intense, fast-paced shopping culture in London versus a traditional market in your hometown.
7. Explain the sociological phrase 'window shopping' and embed it seamlessly in a highly descriptive, compound-complex sentence.
8. Critically evaluate how the 'fast fashion' industry negatively impacts the global environment and exploits labor markets.
9. Make a sentence using a complex quantifier: 'There is / a great deal of / psychological pressure / on teenagers to buy incredibly expensive branded clothes.'
10. Propose two highly realistic, actionable strategies for teenagers to immediately become more ethically responsible consumers.

Sports and Extreme Survival

11. Describe a world-famous sportsperson and critically analyze the monumental psychological challenges they faced to achieve greatness.
12. What specific, hardcore survival skills and mental fortitude are absolutely required to survive at the 'Survival Academy' in freezing temperatures?
13. Write a sentence using the past continuous and past simple: 'While / he / was / climbing / the treacherous mountain, a massive blizzard / strike / without any prior warning.'
14. How does extreme, unpredictable weather fundamentally affect strategy and performance in professional outdoor sports?
15. Correct the mistake: 'If I would be completely free, I would immediately build a thermal shelter.' (Fix the conditional structure)

Past Narratives and Story Writing

16. Write the gripping, high-stakes survival story set in extreme, isolated winter conditions.
17. Academically explain the tense usage between the Past Perfect and Past Simple tenses when establishing a story's timeline.
18. Make a sentence using the past perfect and past simple: 'After the rescue helicopter / finally / arrive, the incredibly resourceful hikers / already / build / a massive shelter.'
19. What specific literary devices (e.g., imagery, pacing, foreshadowing) make a narrative story profoundly 'gripping' for the reader?
20. Discuss the psychological importance of strict leadership and unwavering teamwork when stranded in an unfamiliar, hostile environment.

Health, Fitness, and Modal Verbs

21. Formulate a strong, medically sound advice sentence for an athlete overtraining for a marathon using the modals 'must' or 'ought to'.
22. Correct the mistake: 'You don't have to smoke if you legitimately want to be a professional athlete.' (Clarify the difference between lack of obligation and strict prohibition)
23. Critically discuss the scientifically proven mental health benefits of maintaining a rigorous, daily physical exercise routine.
24. Write a sentence expressing a distinct lack of necessity: 'On scheduled rest days, elite professional athletes / not need to / train / with maximum intensity.'
25. Form a controversial debate question: 'Should / national governments / legally / make / rigorous physical education / mandatory / for all citizens every single day?'

11TH GRADE ENGLISH CONTROL WORK

QUARTER 1 - VARIANT 2

Friendship Dynamics and Determiners

1. Thoroughly explain the grammatical and contextual difference between 'every' and 'each' when analyzing individuals within a social group.
2. Make a complex sentence: 'Neither of my two closest childhood friends / currently / know / how to swim competitively.'
3. How do deeply shared personal interests and mutual, unwavering respect strengthen a fragile friendship over long periods of time?
4. Write a short, critical text formally evaluating the philosophical statement: 'A friend to all is truly a friend to none.'
5. Correct the mistake: 'Half of the football team are completely ready to play the crucial championship match.' (Discuss subject-verb agreement regarding fractions)

Shopping Habits and Economics

6. Analyze exactly how the explosive growth of online shopping has irreversibly damaged traditional retail stores in major global cities.
7. Write a sentence using 'a large number of': '... modern teenagers overwhelmingly prefer purchasing digital goods online rather than physical items.'
8. What is the subtle psychological manipulation behind 'flash sales and massive discounts' aggressively used by large retail corporations?
9. Vividly describe a specific time you deeply regretted buying a ridiculously expensive item. Use the correct tense accurately.
10. Suggest a highly disciplined, practical financial strategy for independently saving money as a high school student.

Extreme Sports and Mental Conditioning

11. Discuss the immense mental preparation and psychological resilience absolutely required for extreme sports like deep-sea free diving.
12. Make a sentence: 'Despite / the freezing, unbearable temperatures, the climber / continued / his / ascent / uninterrupted by the officials.'
13. Write an intense, dramatic dialogue line of a professional coach giving tactical suggestions to a physically exhausted athlete.
14. What specific moral and professional qualities generally make a person an excellent, inspiring role model for today's youth?
15. Correct the mistake: 'The inexperienced climber / was / trapped / in / the massive avalanche for two terrifying days.'

Advanced Writing and Past Modals

16. Why is careful narrative past tense usage absolutely crucial when writing a compelling, suspenseful short story?
17. Write a sentence using a past modal to describe a past sporting habit you have since completely abandoned.
18. Make a sentence using a past modal: '... / physically exhausted and severely dehydrated, he / stubbornly / keep / running towards the finish line.'
19. Create a sentence for a fictional story about being hopelessly lost in a dense, dark wilderness.
20. How do vivid sensory details (sight, sound, tactile feeling) drastically elevate the literary quality of a written narrative?

Health Advice and Modals

21. Write a sentence using 'had better' to sternly and urgently warn someone about a severe, impending health risk.
22. Critically evaluate the catastrophic long-term impact of highly processed, sugar-rich modern diets on teenage physical health.
23. Make a sentence using a past modal of regret: 'You / shouldn't have / arrogantly / ignore / the specialist doctor's strict medical advice.'
24. Explain the precise semantic difference between 'must' and 'have to' in strict legal or professional medical contexts.
25. Ask a highly critical, sociological question: 'How / can / modern society / effectively / promote / significantly better mental health / among highly stressed university students?'
